NEW PLEDGES OF SUPPORT RECEIVED BY TUAN CHI-JUI

Chi Approves Plans For Peaceful Unification

WUCHANG 'FARCE'

Efforts Of Wu Draw Ridicule At Tientsin

BY CHARLES J. FOX
(Special to The China Press)

Tientsin, Nov. 21.—A continuing increase in the number of pledges of support which are being telegraphed to Marshal Tuan Chi-jui is the outstanding feature in the political situation here at the present time.

Approval by Chi Hsieh-yuan Tuchun of Kiangsu, of the plan for peaceful unification has aided the situation materially, notwithstanding the refusal of Tuchun Chi to recognise the present Peking Government.

The Upper Yangtsze Military Government announced at Wuchang following the arrival there of Marshal Wu Pei-fu is considered here as a farce, as is Wu Pei-fu's claim of American support for his "government."

It was reported here today that Marshal Tuan Chi-jui will proceed to Peking at the end of next week.

STILL MUCH TENSION

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 13.—Reports from Tientsin indicate that there is still a good deal of tension in the relations between Marshal Chang Tso-lin and Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, despite efforts at mediation on the part of General Yang Yu-ting, Marshal Chang's chief of staff. Marshal Wang Chen-ping's resignation of his post as acting Tuli of Chihli appears to have been merely an intelligent anticipation of events, Marshal Chang Tso-lin having made arrangements to replace him, in the command of the 23rd

TUAN TO ENTER PEKING NOV. 26, LEGATIONS TOLD

Will Be Premier And Chief Executive Pending Elections

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 21.—The Legations have been informed that Marshal Tuan Chi-jui will probably arrive at Peking on November 26, upon which the Provisional Cabinet will hand over to Marshal Tuan, the latter taking the post of Premier and assuming the functions of President, pending the election of a permanent chief executive.

The Cabinet office is being prepared for Marshal Tuan's residence, the Provisional Cabinet being transferred to the Navy Ministry.

There is much speculation regarding the future premiership, and it is expected that Marshal Tuan will include in the new Cabinet either Mr. Wang I-tang or Mr. Liang Shi-yi, and that the one selected will take the premiership when Marshal Tuan will take the higher post.

OPPOSITION IS VOICED TO MILITARY GOVERNMENT

Provincial Assembly Of Hupeh Lodges Protest

CHI ASKS DELAY

Ichang Commander Is Also Opposed To Scheme

(Eastern News Agency)

Hankow, Nov. 21.—The Hupeh Provincial Asembly and other public bodies in Hupeh have officially warned General Hsiao Yao-nan, Tuchun of Hupeh, that they are opposed to the establishment in Wuchang of the proposed "constitutional military government."

General Wang Ju-chin, Commander of the 8th Division, in Ichang, also has wired to Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan, expressing his opposition to the scheme.

It is reported that Marshal Chi Hsieh-yuan, Inspector-General of Kiangsu, Kiangsi and Anhwei, has addressed a telegram to Tuchun Hsiao, requesting the latter to postpone the publication of the plan for the establishment of the military government on the ground, Marshal Chi states, that strong opposition is being raised in many quarters.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 13.—The attitude of the eight Yangtze provinces in connection with the round-table conference proposals is still the subject of speculation. In reply to a question, Dr. C. T. Wang stated at the Waichiaopu this morning that to judge by telegrams received in Peking, there seemed to be some hopes that the Yangtsze provinces would be represented and a report from a reliable foreign source indicates that Marshal Chi Hsieh-yuan seems prepared to leave affairs in the hands of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, subject to satisfactory assurances.

Marshal Chi seemingly, however, will have nothing to do with the present administration in Peking since he has issued orders to his subordinates to ignore all mandates issued from the capital as he regards them as illegal. It is considered that Marshal Chi would not seriously object to General Lu Yung-hsiang returning to Chekiang, provided that Shanghai remains a part of Kiangsu Province. The Nanking Tuchun's feeling towards Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang is said to be much more bitter.

ARMED ROBBERS GET $4,995 IN RAID ON HOME

Clothing And Jewelry Stolen From Residence Of Estate Agent

Theft of jewelry and clothing totaling $4,995 in value was reported to police of the Louza station by Zung Vung-foo, a real estate agent, residing at 159 Amoy Road.

On Thursday afternoon, according to the report made to the police, a knock was heard at the front door of Zung's residence. An amah answered, and found waiting outside a man, who inquired for her master. When the amah informed the man that her master was not at home, the caller went away.

Fifteen minutes later, five men, two of whom were armed with pistols, and a third with a revolver, entered the house by the back door, which had been left open. The occupants of the house, four women and a boy, were intimidated by the display of firearms and offered no resistance when the robbers herded them together in an upstairs room. Then the intruders ransacked three rooms in the house, taking many valuable pieces of jewelry and clothing.

All five robbers escaped with their rich loot without firing a shot or attracting any attention from passersby.

One group advocates re-establishing in some form the Franco-Russian Alliance which existed before the War while with regard to Far Eastern policy, an article in the Pravda says that the immediate need of the Soviet is to to regulate her relations with Japan but Soviet diplomatists insist that Japan should curtail her demands for naphtha concessions otherwise they will refuse further negotiations and will create a new combination in Asia based on a close military and economic alliance between the Soviet and China; and Japan must understand that such an alliance will menace her schemes unless she is take in to this combination.

Action By Soviet Committee At Moscow Revealed In Local Paper

Vladivostok, according to an article appearing in the New Shanghai Life, a Russian newspaper, has been declared a free port by the All-Russian Executive Committee of the Union of Socialistic Soviet Republics.

Notification of the action of the Soviet government is said to have been received by the officials in charge of the Chinese Eastern Railway administration.

'WAR CRIMINAL' IS REARRESTED; SENTENCED ANEW

General Von Nathusius Denies Charge But Court Orders His Imprisonment

(Reuter's Service)

Lille, Nov. 20.—One of the so-called war-criminals, the German General von Nathusius, who was sentenced in contumaciam to five years' imprisonment, after the war on the charge of stealing furniture and articles of clothing from a chateau in which he had been billeted during the war, was rearrested when visiting his native grave at Forbach. He was today re-tried by court martial.

General von Nathusius strenuously denied the charge, but the court decided by a majority of four to three that he was guilty and sentenced him to a year's imprisonment. The General was ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution.

CHINA'S SUPPORT IS PLEDGED AT OPIUM MEETING

General Discussions Ended By Second Conference At Geneva

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 20.—The Second Opium Conference has concluded its general discussion.

The Canadian delegate declared that Canada was prepared to give general support to the movement for limitation of the manufacture of opium derivatives and also for effective control of its import and export.

Dr. Alfred Sze pledged China's support of the Conference.

The Egyptian delegate suggested inclusion of hashish in the list of narcotics.

The Turkish delegate dwelt on the sufferings of the Turks from hashish.

Sir Malcolm Delevingne said that Britain was of the opinion that complete elimination was impossible though limitation of production was possible.

The Indian delegate accepted the scheme prepared by the Advisory Committee.

The American Delegation submitted a plan with a view to combating the traffic, after which the meeting adjourned until this afternoon.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 20.—The resumed Opium Conference today listened to addresses by philanthropic societies, largely British and American but including one French and one Chinese, submitting suggestions to combat the use of narcotics.

The Spanish delegate proposed that the Secretariat should distribute information to the delegations of the suggestions of the private associations.

The conference should have reassembled tomorrow but adjourned, thus showing that agreement has not yet been reached regarding the Japanese contention respecting import licenses.

FOREIGNERS ACCUSED AS OUTCOME OF ARMED RAIDS

Two Americans And Dane Are Held In Robbery Attempt

CHINESE SOUGHT

Opium Believed Lure, Assert French Police

Prompt action by the Criminal Intelligence Department of the French Police, acting in co-operation with Settlement Police and United States Deputy Marshal William Van Buskirk, yesterday brought about the arrest of three foreigners on charges of attempted armed robbery. Two of the foreigners in custody are Americans, and the third a Dane.

The Americans, Wallace F. Burton and Warren H. Colby, alias Thomas Hagan, were held in bonds of Gold $2,000 each when arraigned for a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner N. E. Lurton. The hearing was continued until next Monday afternoon. The Dane, Gunnar Andersen, was arraigned in the Danish Consular Court, the case being remanded. All three men are unemployed.

Colby followed two armed raids in the French Concession last Sunday. At 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning, according to a report made to the French police, three foreigners, two of whom were armed with revolvers, in company with two Chinese visited a house at No. 4, Passage No. 246, Rue du Consulat, the home of a Chinese broker. Two of the foreigners held up the inmates of the house at the points of revolvers, and another cut the telephone wires, after which the house was ransacked. Nothing of particular value was taken.

At 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, a similar raid in which three foreigners and a number of Chinese participated was made at a house at No. 105, Passage Te Dei-li, off Avenue Edward VII. After ransacking this house, the home of a rice merchant, the intruders departed without taking anything of value. Opium is believed by the police to have been the lure which prompted both raids, but in neither instance were the intruders able to find any.

As a result of investigations conducted by the French police, arrangements were made to raid a house on Haining Road, where Burton, Colby and Andersen resided. In company with Settlement police and United States Deputy Marshal Van Buskirk, French detectives visited the house at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and took into custody Andersen and Burton. Colby was taken into custody later on suspicion of having been implicated in the affair. All three of the men are said to have been identified by witnesses to the two raids.

Further investigations are being conducted by the French police, and it is believed that other arrests will be made within the next few days.

London Unaware Of Proposal For Note To Peking

No Joint Negotiations Now In Progress, Reuter Is Informed

(Reuter's Service)

BRITAIN PLANS STRONG ACTION AS SIRDAR DIES

Sir Lee Stack Succumbs To Wounds Inflicted By Cairo Assassins

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, Nov. 20.—The Sirdar died at midnight.

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, Nov. 21.—Sir Lee Stack slept calmly under a narcotic administered at 10 in the evening but a definite decline in his condition began at 11, the heart becoming very weak.

The Sirdar expired peacefully at 11:45.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 21.—Prior to the death of Sir Lee Stack an [illegible] of the British Cabinet met to consider the situation arising out of the attack. The meeting lasted nearly two hours. A despatch from Viscount Allenby was considered, and the nature of the protest to be made to the Egyptian Government discussed.

One paper says that an official announcement will probably be made in London and Cairo simultaneously today of the action which the Government proposes to take. The paper adds that official circles in London are of the opinion that something beyond mere verbal protest and the punishment of criminals, in what is unquestionably a carefully concerted outrage, is necessary and anticipates that strong measures will be taken.

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, Nov. 21.—The hero of the tragedy is March, Sir Lee Stack's chauffeur, who is an Australian not an Egyptian as previously reported. There is general admiration at the coolness with which he drove the car to the Residency, although twice wounded. He says that the car seemed to be surrounded with gunmen, shots coming from the front and from the rear. He thought that at least 8 men were involved, all dressed as effendis, one wearing a false beard.

CHAMBERLAIN TO ATTEND LEAGUE MEET IN ITALY

Foreign Secretary Will Head British Delegation At Rome

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 20.—Reuter has been informed that Mr. Austen Chamberlain will go to Italy in December as the British representative on the Council of the League of Nations. Mr. Chamberlain will thus miss the opening of Parliament.

It is not yet certain whether Mr. Chamberlain will attend the various meetings of the Council similarly to Lord Parmoor who was appointed ad hoc but it is not impossible that such an appointment will be made. The British Delegation will go to Rome probably on December 5 and the presence of the Foreign Secretary further proves the British Government's desire to promote the work of the League to the utmost.

DR. SUN SAILING VIA JAPAN FOR TIENTSIN TODAY

Lack Of Direct Steamers Forces Him To Take Japanese Boat

In compliance with the request of the Tientsin leaders now in conference, Dr. Sun Yat-sen will sail today for Tientsin via Japan by the Shanghai Maru. On account of the lack of accommodations on steamers going direct to the Northern port, the Southern leader is obliged to take the Japanese boat for Kobe. From there he will take the first available boat for his destination.

Northern papers record the fall of snow in Chihli province and predict the early closing of the rivers. It is therefore possible that Dr. Sun might, upon his arrival in Japan, proceed to Dairen and enter Tientsin by rail.

Mrs. Sun will remain in Shanghai, residing at her home at 29 Rue Molière. Dr. Sun will be accompanied by Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Mr. Eugene Chen and several secretaries.

PHILIPPINES LEGISLATURE ENDS SESSION

Only Seven Bills Passed Up Until Concluding Day; Then A Big Rush

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Nov. 9.—The Philippine Legislature ended its session this morning after an uneventful ninety days, in which up to the last twenty-four hours, only seven bills had been passed by both houses. In the closing hours of the session, about seventy measures were rushed through and will be sent to the Governor-General for signature.

Unlike previous sessions, this one was characterised by an almost complete absence of hostility toward Governor-General Wood. The explanation for this is perhaps due to the fact that Messrs. Quezon and Osmena, the two "bosses" of Philippine politics, were in America or Europe most of the time, and the remaining legislators had received no instructions to keep up the campaign against him. Since the return of Messrs. Quezon and Osmena, the executive and legislative branches have continued their amicable relations.

Of the measures actually passed two bills are to grant franchises to radio corporations here. Another measure is that restricting the powers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, passed upon complaint of the native "cocheros," and likely to be voetoed by Governor-General Wood.

The Appropriations Act went through without difficulty, and corresponds to the one passed last year. Of interest to Chinese is a measure granting police officers power to arrest Chinese whom they believe to have been smuggled into the Islands. The Chinese Consul-General has announced that he may seek to have this law reviewed in Washington, on the ground that it is discriminatory against his people.

Republican Victory Is Welcome News To Most In Philippines

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Nov. 12.—To the majority of Filipinos, and to most Americans and foreigners, the news of Republican success brought a distinct feeling of relief. It was not believed that the Democrats would grant independence, but it was feared that the reforms introduced by Governor Wood might be disregarded and business unfavorably affected by a change of administration.

Political leaders are now busily discussing the so-called Fairfield Bill, a measure discussed in the committee of the House of Representatives in Washington last summer, but which never reached the floor of Congress. The measure provided for a native governor general, supervised by an American commissioner— a Philippine constitution, and independence at the end of twenty-five years. The Filipinos are now debating whether to accept this or continue their campaign for immediate independence.

U.S.S. Borie Shows Great Marksmanship In Firing Torpedoes

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Nov. 13.—What is said to be a record for the American navy, and possibly a world record, was made by the crew of the U.S.S. Borie, a destroyer in the thirty-eighth division of the Asiatic fleet, off Corregidor Island yesterday. The Borie fired four torpedoes at a target 12,000 yards distant, registering a hit each time. Naval authorities at the Navite Station here said today that the record had not been officially reported yet to headquarters, but that verbal reports had confirmed it.

The men of the torpedo crews are entitled to gratuities of twenty dollars (gold) each, for making this record, and the Borie will have two letters "E" painted over the tubes which fired the torpedoes, signifying "Excellent."

division, by one of the Fengtien Generals.

So far as can be learned in Peking the discussions engaged in by Marshals Tuan, Chang and Feng have so far centred upon purely military affairs. Mr. Yuan Liang, the delegate sent by the cabinet to Tientsin, reports that no formal conference has yet been held.

GEN. CHEN FOR TUAN

(Eastern News Agency)

Shanghai, Nov. 21.—According to General Chen Chiung-ming's representative, Mr. Liu Chun-liang, who is now in Shanghai, General Chen Chiung-ming, conjointly with Generals Tang Chi-yao, Chao Heng-ti, Hsiung Ku-wu, and Liu Hsien-shih, has issued a circular telegram dated November 18, announcing that they are unanimous in supporting Marshal Tuan Chi-jui and at the same time agreeing to the Marshal's assumption of the position as temporary "Dictator." It is understood that Mr. Liu, who has already received telegraphic instructions from General Chen to proceed to Tientsin to take part in the Tientsin conference in order to discuss measures for the reconstruction of the country, will leave for Tientsin in a day or two. SHIP

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—A Tientsin reports says that Marshal Chang Tso-lin seems to be concentrating on clearing up the military situation. He has sent General Chang Tseng-chang to Shantung to take over the Techow arsenal and occupy Hsuchowfu. General Chang is a native of Shantung and it is expected that he will be appointed military Governor of that province. The present Tuli is said to be bitterly disappointed at recent developments in that province, his hasty defection from his former chiefs having gained him nothing.

Marshal Chang will probably come on to Peking as soon as he has made necessary military dispositions. He has not shown any active interest in the Emergency Government at Peking, but his followers state he will probably make important changes, when he arrives here. Meanwhile Fengtien inspection offices have been established at Chienmen and Shichiamen stations.

WU HAS 20,000 TROOPS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Nov. 20.—Marshal Wu Pei-fu has 20,000 troops under his direct control, it is claimed. Any estimate, however, of the number that can be raised by the combined Yangtsze tuchuns must of necessity be wide of the mark, owing to the uncertainty of the future attitude and actions of the members of the combination.

TUAN CHI-JUI IS ONLY HOPE, SAYS TOKIO EDITORIAL

Chief Problem Is How To Gain Dominance Over Chang And Feng

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 20.—The "Jiji," in an editorial published today, dealing with the situation in China, writes in part:

"To cope with the political situation in China subsequent upon the fall of the Chihli faction, there is scarcely any person competent except Marshal Tuan Chi-jui to whom even Marshal Wu Pei-fu, leader of the Chihli faction, has already pledged his allegiance.

"The fact that Marshal Chang Tso-lin and General Feng Yu-hsiang have agreed to support Marshal Tuan shows that they are each aware of their incompetency to save the situation with their own power.

"The first and foremost of difficulties Marshal Tuan has to deal with may be how to dominate over Chang Tso-lin and Feng Yu-hsiang for fear that the Yangtsze tuchuns, who are rather opposed to Marshal Wu's scheme for the unification of the country by force, should in their self-defence rise in arms against Peking, in case Chang Tso-lin and Feng Yu-hsiang attempt to expand their influence as far as the Yangtsze Valley, thereby endangering the positions of the present tuchuns in Central China.

"In the meantime, it is also urgently necessary for Marshal Tuan to take steps for the suppression of the radical elements of the Kuomingtang Party so that the uneasiness which is now being entertained by the Yangtsze tuchuns may be eliminated.

"Taking these facts in consideration, pending the establishment of the foundation upon which the peaceful reunification of China can be based, it is very questionable whether we can really be optimistic in the present situation.

"At this juncture when the Chinese people are offered a golden opportunity of accomplishing their cherished object of unification of their country by peaceful means it is most essential for them to act in co-operation with Marshal Tuan Chi-jui as their central figure and to tide over all difficulties that they are now facing by their own exertion."

The wives of the various consuls in Shanghai were also present, and a few well-known Chinese women also came in.

Mrs. Purdy and Miss Purdy looked charming in soft afternoon gowns and the toilettes of the women callers were lovely.

Assisting Mrs. Purdy and her daughter in caring for their guests were several close friends, including Mrs. Edwin S. Cunningham, wife of the American consul-general, Dr. Anne Walter Fearn, Mrs. J. P. Davis, and others.

Tag Day Money To Be Used In Eliminating This

Shanghai residents today are to be asked to remedy the condition portrayed in the above picture, to be found throughout the war-stricken districts near Shanghai, when an army of peace, 2,000 strong, students at various schools in the city, will conduct a tag day under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Contributions are to be dropped into the bamboo banks carried by the students. Several thousand dollars are expected to be raised.

Destruction of homes was only one of the many indignities forced on the peaceful citizens of the surrounding districts. Women and children were driven into swamps where they contracted fevers. Animals were killed and left where they died. Many bodies of soldiers have only recently been given decent burial. Odors and diseases abound. The money raised today in the tag day will be used in eliminating the terrible conditions.

Recs Meet Club In Big Football Match At New Pioneer Field Today

Can Last Year's Champions Hold Their Own? Other League Games On; Present Standing Of Teams

The most crucial game of the football season to date is on today, when the Shanghai Recreation Club meets the Football Club at Pioneer Field. On this game depends the possibility of the Recs continuing as contenders for football supremacy in Shanghai, which they wrested from the Football Club last year only by a superior goal average, each team losing only one game out of ten played.

The Engineers by beating the Recs last Saturday not only sprang a great surprise, but may have opened the way to a fine three-cornered contest for the League Championship. The whole chance for such an interesting condition rests on the ability of the S. R. C. to beat the S. F. C. today. Should they accomplish this each of these three teams will have lost one game, and it will be possible for any one of the three to carry off the premier honors. If the S. F. C. are successful, however, the Recs will be pretty well eliminated from the race. The Engineers would then be the only likely contenders with the S. F. C. It is to be feared from the S. R. C's sad tale of "crocks" that there is little likelihood of them beating the Club. The three missing from the lineup last Saturday, C. J. Smith, Evans and G. Johansson, will be out today but Xavier will not be playing.

The two teams will line up as follows:

S. R. C. Remedios, Turner, Griffiths, C. J. Smith, Tordy, Oliverdessen, G. Johansson, V. Evans, A. Sofoulis, J. Johansson, T. Madar. Reserve: C. Sofoulis.

S. F. C., J. E. R. Harris, J. K. Ewing, J. Phillips, A. A. Gowan, F. Deer, W. A. B. Price, L. Goldman, L. J. Coulcher, Alan Smith. Reserves: L. F. Payne, C. N. Brown.

CARS TO PIONEER FIELD

This game will be played at Pioneer Field, starting at 3 p.m. Special arrangements have been made whereby the Ford Hire Car Service will take people to Pioneer Field, from their Jinkee Road stand, at 40 cents a person, four persons to a car. During the game a Ford Hire Car Service representative will be in attendance, and cars may be booked for after the game.

A general admission charge of 20 cents will be made, with stands 60 cents, and a big crowd is looked forward to.

PORTUGUESE PLAY ENGINEERS

The Portuguese are scheduled to meet the Engineers this afternoon in the second First Division match. The P. S. A. found their feet too late in last Saturday's game with the Police, but when they did wake up they piled up three goals in less than ten minutes. This team which won Second Division honors so splendidly last year has the greatest possibilities for the future. It is a treat to see the combination of their forwards, but their reluctance to shoot proves their undoing.

After the performance of last week one must pick the Engineers to beat the P. S. A. this afternoon. The following players will represent the Marine Engineers' F. C.: E. J. Sluis, T. W. R. Wilson, H. Turner, J. Falconer, C. T. Crawford, S. Howard, W. J. Calder, M. Moosa, A. E. Barnes, W. E. Austen, W. A. Bailey. Reserves: R. B. Close, G. E. Sistonan, G. L. Koppany.

FOOTBALL TODAY

The official fixture list for this afternoon is as follows:

FIRST DIVISION

S. F. C. v S. R. C., Pioneer Field., Referee. Mr. Marshall.; P. S. A. v Engineers., Police ground., Referee. Mr. Herbert.

SECOND DIVISION

S. R. C. v Jewish, S. R. C. ground., Referee. Mr. Jacobs.; P. S. A. v Public School Hongkew, Referee. Mr. Campos.; Police v Manbury, Wid. Mon ground., Referee. Mr. Gray.

Outside of these, a number of games in the Chinese Leagues are also scheduled for this afternoon, as follows:

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Soochow University vs. Shanghai College. Shanghai College grounds.

Nanking University vs. St. John's. St. John's grounds.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Nanyang University Middle School vs. Tung Chi Middle School. Nanyang University grounds.

Fuh Tan Middle School vs. Shanghai Academy. Shanghai Academy Field.

There will also be game between the Endeavorers and the Union Football Team 2d on the mud ground at Pioneer Field, at 2.45.

SECOND DIVISION GAMES

Today's games in the Second Division are quite eclipsed by the big event in the main league. The Police 2d is to meet Thomas Hanbury School's team at the Widow's Monument ground, however, and it will be interesting to see who will win this contest. Hanbury School will line up as follows:

W. Ferguson, F. Whittsack, W. Naughton, A. Senna, T. Sofoulis, B. Schwartz, T. Murray, P. Brown, J. R. McDonald, J. C. McDonald, and T. Symons. Reserves: C. Brown, and H. Harvey.

The Police team will be:

Hotchkiss, Robinson, Fridmore, McDonald, Munson, Goffe, Phillips Watson (capt) White, Ling, Jones.

The Recs 2d is due to meet the Jewish R. C. at the Recs' grounds this afternoon. This S. R. C. team will be as follows:

Moalem, Quincey, Tipton, B. Smith, Marshall, J. Brodie, Pote-Hunt, R. J. Moalem, T. Madar, Hayward, T. Emmanuel. Reserves: Wilson, Reid.

The Jewish Club's players will be:

J. Greben; A. Koolonel, D. Blumenthal; F. C. Hale, C. Fuxman (captain), W. Edmond; K. Gestkewitch, W. Kovolapoff, A. S. Grimpel, L. Feingold, and L. Brunmel. Reserves: S. Aholnik, E. Whitgob.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AT PARK

The Public School team is playing the Portuguese 2d at Hongkew Park this afternoon. The School is filling the place left vacant by the Socols, the Russian Cadet team, which had to withdraw from the League owing to several of their players leaving Shanghai. All games played against this team having been cancelled by the S. F. A., and the Public School team, whose application arrived too late for them to enter the League, were invited to fill the vacancy. In their initial game, last Saturday, the School started off well with a victory over the strong Football Club team.

The School's team against the Portuguese this afternoon will be as follows:

S. Greenberg, A. Jesu, H. Fabian, C. Jack, S. Moalem, Brown, E. Harrison, D. Drake, J. Kabelitz, W. Tingle, A. Noblston. Reserves: Ribeiro, Symons.

Who will meet at the Carlton tonight for the right to fight Johnny Hill for the featherweight championship of China. Garcia is stockier and heavier, and a little older than Canion, who is now nineteen. Rufe has about an inch on Leonardo in height, and a slight margin in reach. Garcia has a couple of pounds in weight, and will enter the ring at about 126 against Canion's 124. Garcia is the best of the featherweights here now, and has even licked Volaire, the kingpin of the bigger boys. Canion has fought his way up from the bantam class, and is now bidding for the featherweight title. Rufe has strength, youth, and a terrific punch which is not yet under perfect control. Garcia has speed, cleverness, and is above the other boy as a boxer, but has not demonstrated that he packs a wallop like Rufe's.

The big fight between Rufe Canion and Leonardo Garcia is on tonight. Two of the finest youngsters in Shanghai, the pair which have participated in some of the best fights ever staged here, are bound to meet each other for the second time. Both of them are in splendid condition, and are bound to repeat the wonderful exhibition which they gave the last time they met in the ring, almost two months ago.

Rufe is so well known here that details of his record are hardly called for at this stage of the game. It may be well to remember, however, that this fine youngster is only nineteen years of age, and is steadily on the up-grade. Though recognised as a promising boy when he came here from Manila last winter, it is in Shanghai that his real development has taken place, a development both in quantity and quality, his punch and his fighting ability growing at the same time as his weight, due to normal growth, has increased. He started in here as a bantam, and had no difficulty in making the weight at the time. He fought everyone here in the bantam division, and licked all of them up to the title-holder, Billy Tingle.

When he met Tingle five months ago Canion was already outgrowing the bantam division, but he made the weight, and in fact was a trifle under it. Early on the day of the fight he was found to be overweight, and he is said to have skipped rope for two hours the same day he fought Tingle, taking off two pounds and getting down to 117½. Tingle, on the other hand, is said to have been a pound heavier than Canion, going into the ring several ounces over the limit weight.

As was to have been expected, Canion was affected by his hard work to make weight, particularly on the day of the fight, and it was not until the latter part of his twelve-round go with the champion that he got going properly. Tingle was certainly more clever than Rufe, but Canion kept doggedly at it, and in the latter part of the fight was beginning to have things his own way. Billy had to extend himself to the utmost, and in the eleventh round Canion landed with a terrific right which broke Tingle's jaw, and would have ended the fight then and there had it been placed an inch or so better. As it was, Tingle managed to finish the fight, but he hasn't fought since, and has failed to make any response to Canion's challenge for a return fight.

In Rufe's first fight with Garcia, the cleverest of the featherweights here, the youngster put up a terrific battle, and Garcia finally got right down to swapping punches with him. It was one of the most remarkable fights ever staged in Shanghai, and in the last round both boys were almost out on their feet. A draw decision was handed down, which was well received, but after the fight it was found that Garcia was very badly bruised all down his side, and both hands were broken, necessitating a doctor's care, while Canion was practically uninjured.

Canion's fight with Matty Smith, the veteran lightweight, was a still bigger and more spectacular affair, though as a fight it left much to be desired. Smith, a fighter with 254 bouts behind him, and former holder of several titles, who knocked out Billy Tingle in a fight several months previous here, went up against Canion. Smith had several pounds advantage on the Filipino boy, and it was confidently expected that he would win, but Canion, after a couple of rounds in which Smith held his own pretty well, conducting himself like a master, began to bore into Smith with rights and lefts which broke the veteran to pieces. After two or three knockdowns in the fourth round, and a few more in the fifth, with Smith standing up to terrific punishment in the time between knockdowns, the latter's second threw in the sponge. Canion had beaten him, absolutely and unequivocally—beaten him twice in fact, as the fight was stopped once and the award given to Canion to save Smith further punishment, but upon protest the fight was continued and Rufe demonstrated himself to be absolute master of the other man.

So much for Canion. As to Leonardo Garcia, this boy has proved himself the superior of every other featherweight in Shanghai with the exception of the title-holder, whom in fact he once whipped in Manila. Leonardo is fast on his feet, and clever, though he apparently lacks the kayo punch that will settle Canion.

If the fight goes to the limit, as did the previous one, it is possible that there will be another draw decision, or even a Garcia judgment. Garcia has lost only three fights in Shanghai, twice on points, to Tingle and Hill, and once by a kayo, Johnny Hill being the man behind. Garcia not only possesses cleverness, but he is game all through, and is one boy who doesn't stall. His main shortcoming is the lack of a knockout punch, which is most unfortunate, as in every other respect he is a really highclass fighter.

One advantage Garcia has is the fact that he is always in condition. His clean and careful life counts for much, and he never permits himself to get out of shape. It will be remembered that Garcia was the local boy who was selected for the exhibition bout with Pancho Villa when the world's flyweight champion dropped in on us (rather unexpectedly for most, though an exhibition was predicted the previous day in

Winner To Meet Johnny HILL

Boxing Notes

THE CHINA PRESS) last week, and it was necessary to find someone on a moment's notice. Garcia, always in shape, entered the ring with the champion.

A glance at Garcia's splendid record is enough to show his ability. Most of his fights he has won on points, both in Shanghai and prior to coming here, his victories in Manila including one over Young Gonzalo in twelve rounds, another over Johnny Hill in the same distance, one over Billy Tingle (to whom he subsequently lost), and even one over Tenebro Santos, the present claimant of the featherweight title in the Philippines.

Upon coming to Shanghai Garcia was first matched with Tigora, whom he whipped twice, demonstrating his right to go after bigger game. Accordingly, he was booked with Billy Tingle, and licked him also. Tingle asked for a return fight, however, and got it. Billy won from Leonardo in the second bout, and they have not met in the ring since.

Garcia, however, was matched with Johnny Hill, the featherweight title-holder, and was beaten by the champ. Perhaps as punishment for losing, he was put up against Young Volaire, the husky lightweight who is the best of all the bigger boys fighting here, to whom he gave close to ten pounds, and licked him. After this he was booked with Young Gonzalo, with whom he first fought a draw, and in the return fight got the decision. Then, nearly two months ago, Garcia went up against Rufe Canion, and fought that wonderful fight which had the crowd on its feet and both fighters almost out on theirs, and half propping each other up by the wallops they were raining upon each other in that terrific last round.

Tonight they are going to meet again.

Shanghai Junior Golf Club Meets

The 16th Annual General Meeting of the Shanghai Junior Golf Club was held in the Club Pavilion on Friday before a large attendance of members. The Report and Accounts were submitted and showed a very satisfactory year's working.

The outgoing Captain, Mr. P. Ephgrave, reviewed the past season's efforts at length, and said that despite the very great congestion on the links at Hongkew Park the Club had managed to get through all their competitions with the exception of one which would be played off immediately. There was however every reason to hope that the congestion would considerably decrease in the near future, which would make golf much more pleasant. At the conclusion the meeting was thrown open for discussion, and some very useful suggestions were put forward in the interest of the Club and for the betterment of golf in general.

The Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Captain C. H. Hopkins, Vice-Captain A. E. Hayward, General Committee: Messrs. P. Ephgrave, F. B. Walker, A. Braid, G. B. Stormes, W. R. Kinipple, F. Lloyd, P. B. Critchley and C. Richards. Balloting Committee: Messrs. A. D. Hendry, A. Mackintosh, E. Judd, T. G. Goodman, E. J. Case, T. Murphy, E. M. Smith, R. C. Fowles, O. Stromdahl and J. R. Young.

At a subsequent General Committee Meeting Messrs. F. B. Walker and P. W. Ephgrave were elected Hon. Treasurer and Hon. Secretary respectively, in place of Messrs. Braid and Stormes, retired.

CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

The entries for the Junior Golf Club Championship will close on Sunday, December 7. Intending players are requested by the Club to sign their names on the list on the notice board in the Club House.

Oriole Quintet Defeats Chinese Amateurs, 27-26

A very fast and close basketball game was witnessed by a large crowd last night on the Chinese "Y" floor when the newly formed Oriole quintet met the Amateurs team, the latter emerging victorious by a one point lead. After a hard and scrappy game the score stood 27 to 26 in favor of the Chinese team.

Due to the fact that both teams were just beginning the season, the game was divided into quarter times as well as the usual half time. At the end of the first quarter the flashy Orioles led by a 9-5 tally and kept in the front throughout the following quarters but were defeated by numerous fouls, in which the Amateurs never failed to net the ball.

Kabelitz, the star center for the Orioles, had the misfortune to injure his leg, and was forced to leave the game at half time, when the score stood 13-11 in favor of the Orioles. This bit of hard luck cramped the Orioles, as their center was their leading scorer. Frankie Johnson was sent in to the game in his place.

The Amateurs played a fast game with good team work, while their opponents wasted too much time with long distance shots which was probably their downfall. However the game was a very exciting battle, and the winning basket was a field goal scored within the last minute of play, with the Orioles in the lead by one point.

Mr. K. S. Chang refereed the game, and was very fair to both teams. The game was very rough with much fouling, but his umpiring was satisfactory to all

Navy Basketball Team Plays Chinese Amateurs Tonight

The American Navy team is to meet the Chinese Amateurs at basketball at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 this evening. The Navy team, like the Orioles who played yesterday, is a Basketball League team, and is guaranteed by sailors from the two gunboats Penguin and Pigeon, each ship having its quintet, which may combine when possible. In case one of these patrol ships leaves Shanghai for a time, the other will supply a League team.

The Navy team is out for all the practice they can get before the League games open December 1. The Amateurs, though by no means the strongest of the Chinese teams here, are capable of putting up a good game, and the Navy will probably find them anything but an easy proposition this evening.

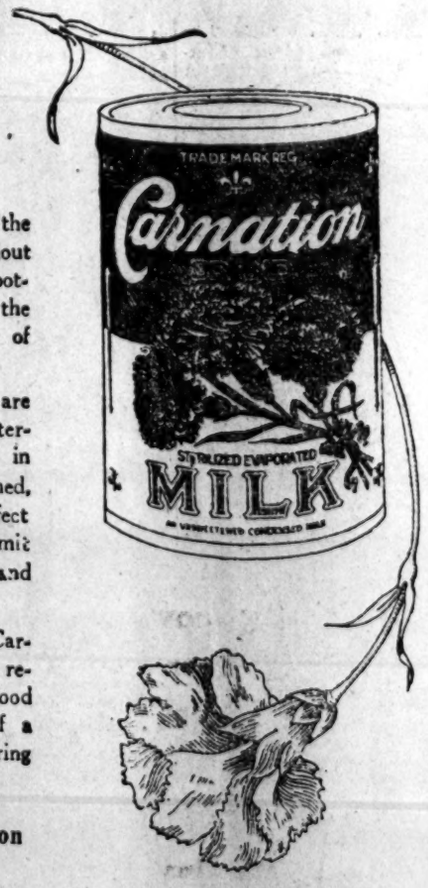
Guarding the Purity of Carnation Milk



Each year, thousands of housewives visit the big Carnation Milk condenseries. Without exception, they are delighted with the spotless surroundings and enthusiastic over the precautions taken to guard the purity of Carnation Milk.

Glass-lined receivers for fresh milk are thoroughly cleaned and scientifically sterilized twice daily. Great vacuum pans in which the milk is evaporated are polished, inside and out until they shine with perfect cleanliness. Even the farmer must submit his milk receptacles for cleansing and sterilizing under Carnation direction.

So great is the purity and richness of Carnation Milk, that leading physicians recommend it without hesitation as a food for infants. You, too, can be sure of a safe, sanitary supply of milk by ordering Carnation.

Strike In Melbourne Aims To Abolish Maritime Bureau

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Nov. 21.—The railwaymen and stevedores refusing to handle cargo, including butter, valued at £150,000 of the P. and O. steamer Maloja, has intensified the waterside trouble, from which according to a Union official "anything might eventuate."

The strike aims at the abolition of the Sydney Maritime Bureau, consisting exclusively of ex-service men supplying non-union labor.

Chinese Woman, Born In America, Is Denied Ballot

(Reuter's American Service)

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 17.—Republican leaders in this city say that they will seek court action to decide whether or not a Chinese woman born in this country is eligible to be made a voter. Local registrars of voters have refused to make Mrs. Chin Pon, a Chinese woman of this city, a voter in spite of the fact that she has a birth certificate showing that she was born in Philadelphia.

The registrars base their claim that Chinese are ineligible to be made voters even though they are born in this country, on the provisions of the Chinese Exclusion Act. It is understood that Attorney-General Frank Healy has given a verbal opinion to the effect the registrars should make the woman a voter, but the registrars demand a written opinion.

Sian Ah-pan, 27 years old, got away with 3,700 coppers from the shop at 1803 Sinza Road the middle of this month. He was brought before Mixed Court yesterday. The court remanded the case a week, seemingly with the intention of learning the secret of carrying that many coppers on one's person without bulging out the pockets. Sian has eight previous convictions marked up against him.

Dreadnought Is Being Destroyed Under Arms Pact

(Reuter's Service)

Norfolk, Virginia, Nov. 21.—The uncompleted Dreadnought Washington which is now being destroyed under the Naval Limitation Treaty was yesterday given over to 14-inch bombs from the battleship Texas, but at sunset she was still afloat, not materially damaged. She was only dented in the armor of her hull and practically free from water in spite of the explosion of underwater charges.

The vessel today will be aerially attacked by nine bombing aeroplanes, each carrying missiles weighing from 1 to 2,000 lbs.

Berlin Press Angry Over Sentence On Gen. Von Nathusius

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The whole press is indignant at the sentence on General von Natusius. The trial is described as a farce and the sentence as an infamous act of vengeance. Even the moderate Tageblatt is very angry and says that unless the sentence is promptly quashed it will be an incredible disgrace for the French democracy and the Herriot Cabinet. Nationalist papers demand German reprisals.

Undoubtedly the German Government will take further action especially as the verdict will be good election propaganda for the Nationalists against the policy of reconciliation with France.

THE public and critics in EUROPE who have seen it are unanimous in pronouncing "KOENIGSMARK" the most unusual picture ever made, a revelation in every way!
So totally different that it just doesn't permit comparison with any other picture!

But one reads so many such claims that these adjectives have long since lost their true meaning.

Paper From Foreign Countries Extensively Used in China

But Foreign Importers Are Understood To Be Making Very Small Profits

By Geo. W. Missemer

Paper to a value of from fourteen to sixteen million taels is imported annually into China from foreign countries and about half of this is consumed here in Shanghai. There is probably no line of imports in which the competition either by countries or by individual firms is as keen as it is in this. The Customs statistics show five different countries as supplying more than a million taels worth of paper each, in addition to Hongkong with over two millions and Japan over four millions. The business is distributed among Norwegian, Swedish, American, Italian, French, British, German, Hollandish, and Japanese firms, and even this list of nationalities does not show the diversity of this trade, as the Customs statistics do not list any paper as coming either from Finland or Czecho-Slovakia, from which two countries there must also, be, judging from the labels to be seem on the paper handled here, considerable import.

Foreign style paper is also made locally in two mills, one located in Yangtszepoo and the other at Pootung. The making of foreign-style paper here in China is attended with considerable difficulties. First and foremost is the matter of pulp. This forms by far the largest proportion of the body of paper such as is manufactured here and all this must be imported. The freight and the duty are very little higher on the complete paper product as compared with its principal constituent. Therefore the manufacturers here have only the narrow margin to work on as to cheaper cost of the labor required to operate the machinery, to sort the small proportion of rags which are used, and so on.

The paper mill at Pootung was started more than twenty years ago under American auspices, and proved a losing proposition almost from the start. About ten years ago the old Chinese mill at Yangtszepoo and the mill at Pootung were taken over by a joint Chinese and Japanese company, under Scandinavian management, and no statistics are available as to what profits, if any, are being made.

The Chinese newspapers are some of the best customers of foreign made printing paper. Up until about twenty years ago the Chinese newspapers were printed on the almost tissue-like rice-straw native-made paper, being printed only on one side as the paper is so thin that the printed characters are almost as visible on the reverse as they are on the printed side. Nowadays the Chinese papers, in this neighborhood at least, have altogether abandoned the use of the native-made papers, but despite this fact the making of paper in China is still quite an industry, and in fact is not a negligible item in the export trade of China, about three million taels worth having gone to foreign countries last year; this exclusive of "Joss" paper of which about million and a half taels worth are exported from China yearly. Chinese paper is principally manufactured at Kiukiang, Swatow and Foochow, and such of it as it exported is used mainly by Chinese abroad.

The retail trade in foreign-made paper in Shanghai is almost exclusively in the hands of Chinese, and both in Chinese retail circles and in foreign import circles the feeling has recently grown that steps should be taken to prevent matters rapidly getting to the point where neither the importers or the retailers can make a living profit out of the trade.

It is generally understood that some of the principal foreign paper import dealers have recently been negotiating with a view to bringing this trade to a more profitable basis. It is quite probable that paper importers have been experiencing some of the same difficulties that importers in other lines have encountered, namely that irresponsible Chinese dealers have been able to place orders without having either any standing, any money, or anything else except "nerve," and in the absence of some organisation among the importers to keep track of what "the other fellow" is doing, these numerous small dealers have been able to play off one foreign firm against the other, and in the event that things should not turn out as they expected they would take delivery and made a good profit, whereas the foreign firm made a very slim percentage; while if exchange or some other incidental of trade took a turn to their disadvantage, the native dealers failed to take delivery and the foreign importer, who had worked without a guarantee or a deposit, has had to face the loss out of the slim profits made on previous transactions.

Like in other lines of trade, the paper importers have at times doubtless considered the idea of forming a hard and fast import control association, but the danger in such a movement is that in case it should not prove a success for one reason or other, then the foreign importers would have lost so much prestige that their position would then be worse than it had been previously.

The custom has grown up in recent years for paper importers to sell on a price figured ex godown, but the result seems to have been to spread the paper trade among a great many dealers of no standing, and it is quite a probability that if the foreign importers were to revert to the former idea of selling on a cost, freight, insurance and commission basis, with duty to be paid by the Chinese buyer within ten days of arrival, the more substantial among the Chinese buyers would consider the move as a friendly one as they would thus to a great extent be relieved of the ruinous competition of the smaller and more irresponsible native dealers.

Cotton

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son, Inc., weekly cotton market report dated November 21 states:

China Cotton.—During the early part of the week, the cotton trade has witnessed a succession of strong markets, and prices showing an advance of about a tael and a half as compared with last week's level. At the close, in sympathy with the uncertainty which is being felt regarding the political situation in China, the undertone was steady.

Receipts from the interior marts continue small with no indications of any improvements in the near future. Demand, however, is fairly brisk for the actual cotton with limited offerings.

In summing up the situation regarding the question of supply and demand, we are averse to advising our friends to follow declines of any consequences, and if any temporary weakness should develop in the speculative markets, we think that advantage should be taken of such moments to buy.

Yarn.—The market has been quite firm during the early part of the week, and prices advanced some three to four taels from last week's level. At the close, the undertone was steady to firm. In all some, 11,000 to 12,000 bales of local spinnings have been booked for export to Szechuen, Hankow, Canton, Swatow, Fukien, Wuhu, Newchwang, Kiangse, Ningpo and Northern ports, and over 3,000 bales direct booking with the mills has been recorded.

Messrs. J. Spunt and Co., Cotton Market Report for Nov. 22 States:

China Cotton:—Since the issue of our last circular the market manifested a succession of firm markets and prices on the whole advanced further by Tls. 1 per picul above the level last ruling. The resumption of work in a fair number of Chinese mills coupled with the marked appreciation in yarn values stimulated a pressing demand by spinners in general for prompt deliveries of the raw material, and receipts from the interior, though normal for the week under review, proved to be inadequate to satisfy the developing absorbing power. In the event of a continued improvement in yarn values, it would naturally induce a firmer tendency in the rates of the domestic staple. Prices in the U. S. A. and Indian markets having been in a more or less steady position and exchange rates tending to be easier, preclude for the moment importation of any magnitude, and particularly from India, which could replace to any advantage the domestic growth. For the time being, therefore, the indications incline to purchases on any reaction for present requirements, while awaiting developments in the trend on the foreign staple as such of late have influenced the local markets to a more or less extent. The next American Government Crop report to be published on the 21st inst. is due here on the 22nd, inst. Tone of the market is steady.

Sulzer Engine Starts On Compressed Air

With reference to the account of the installation of the Diesel engine in the French concession which appeared in these columns several days ago, Mr. O. Mesiter, representing Sulzer Brothers in Shanghai, calls attention to a slight error. As a matter of fact the engine is started by compressed air, and not by electricity (by means of the exciter) as was stated.

Mellon Wants The Silver Dollars Back In Circulation

Secretary Of The U. S. Treasury Hopes To Restore "Cart Wheel" And Give The Dollar Bill A Rest

BY ANNE SEWARD
(In The N. Y. Times)

If Secretary Mellon has his way, the silver dollar—the old "cart wheel"—will come back into circulation. Mr. Mellon wants to give the greenback a rest. The Government printing presses are overworked and dollar bills must be properly "seasoned" before they are used, or they wear out at the rate of almost two million a year. There are tons of silver dollars in the vaults of the Treasury Department at Washington, but no one seems to want them. They are the neglected stepchildren of the currency system.

The Secretary made his appeal for the silver dollar through the recent convention of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago, and voiced his conviction that "the American public can be counted upon to co-operate with the Government in its efforts to supply the currency requirements of the country." The bankers are going to help circulate the neglected silver dollar, and they count on the co-operation of the public—to a reasonable extent at least.

A paper dollar costs the Government more than a cent and a half to manufacture and it lasts, if used fresh from the press, only eight months. If it could be stored a while it would last almost a year. There is something about the threads and paper that causes a chemical change and shortens the note's life.

The silver dollar's life is without limit. It never seems to wear out. So, according to the Secretary of the Treasury, we should return to the "cart wheel" and help Uncle Sam catch up with his seasoned supply of paper notes. Catch up with his supply and save money as well. A reasonable request, say the bankers, considering the fact that the paper dollar is only a warehouse receipt after all.

West of the Alleghanies the "cart wheel" has always been part of every one's loose change, but in the East, and especially in New York City, you rarely see the coin from one year's end to the other. Silver dollars have virtually gone out of existence in the Middle Atlantic States and in the South, and there is already considerable discussion regarding the welcome the prodigal coins will receive.

The general opinion among the leading banks of the First and Second Federal Reserve District (Boston and New York) is that while silver dollars cannot be forced upon an unwilling public, every one will co-operate in the new plan to the extent of accepting a reasonable number of the coins in payment of each small check.

A Fifth Avenue banker, the President of a trust company, where 90 percent of the customers are women, said frankly that his bank would pay out over the counter two silver dollars in every ten. And he seemed to imply that the women would accept them without question—that he would see to it they did.

At another bank, however, a few blocks up the avenue, the paying teller, when asked what he though of the request, said:

"Why, we could not possibly do it. The ladies would close their accounts. What ladies are going around with three or four heavy 'cart wheels' in their dainty bead pocketbooks? Why," he continued, waxing excited, "have you ever noticed a society woman's pocketbook? It is just like a vanity case."

This teller seemed to realise that two silver dollars weigh almost a ounce and a half and that eight weigh a pound—Troy weight. In fact, the silver dollar is the heaviest silver coin in the world except the Mexican dollar, which beats it by only a few grains.

While the banks may limit their output to an average of two in ten, this does not mean that the coin will not be a white elephant to men and women alike. For no one will be able to say to the salesmen: "No, do not give me another silver dollar; my pockets are loaded down with them as it is." People will have to take as many as are tendered, especially if shopkeepers and box offices have nothing else. Moreover, the gradual disappearance of the two-dollar bill from circulation will help to aggravate the situation.

Of the two-dollar bill it is said that the superstition against it is so strong that airplanes will not fly the day that one of the bills appears in the field box office. Their appearance spells disaster in the minds of aviators and Westerners.

At a Forty-second Street bank visited by the writer there was not a single silver dollar available, although the teller thought there were two of the new design put away in the safe. Another bank counted thirty round silver disks, but the teller said they had tried for years to get rid of them and that a client would faint if asked to take one. The teller, glancing around at his small quarters, wondered where on earth he would "store the things" if Mr. Mellon's order went into effect.

BELIEVE THE PEOPLE WILL AID

Secretary Mellon said the bankers count upon that quality in the American people that leads them to do what they are asked to do, even though they seem defiant. Because Secretary Mellon says "there are many reasons why the silver dollar should be restored to its former importance in the currency structure" it is believed in banking circles that the public will use wheelbarrows if necessary to carry out the request of the Government—even though they have not yet become accustomed to the circular that went out Oct. 1 asking people to use half dollars instead of quarters for the next few months. The circular, which originated in the Treasury, said that "the supply of half dollars is far in excess of the supply of quarters." Here again the public is asked to substitute a heavier coin for a lighter one. Christmas gifts are to be made as far as possible in the higher denomination. Quarters are giving out.

An officer of the Second Reserve Bank, commenting upon the "half-dollar" circular, said: "The Treasury asked us to send it out. Personally, I hated to see it go." Asked whether it would have the tendency of raising the standard of tipping and spending, he said he did not believe. He thought that people would not hold their half dollars, but would change them as soon as they opened their pay envelopes.

It is chiefly in making up pay envelopes that the large metropolitan banks will be able to co-operate with the Government in circulating silver coins. No one

Pacific Shipping To Be Discussed At Los Angeles

Robert Dollar To Speak At Chamber Of Commerce Conference

Los Angeles, Cal.—Believing that the near future is to witness the transfer of the bulk of the world's trading from the Atlantic to the Pacific and that this change is to be of tremendous importance to all lines of business in the west this subject has been given one of the predominating places on the mid-winter conference program of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States which will hold its western meeting in Los Angeles, December 2 and 3.

Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, vice-president of the national chamber in the west, has asked John Cushing, traffic manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, to work out this conference subject from the broad point of view of the entire west. In response to this request Mr. Cushing has spent several months in making a careful study of the shipping situation on the Pacific. The results of this study will be summed up in an address by Mr. Cushing on "Shipping Problems of the Pacific Coast."

After this opening talk it is planned to have Mr. Cushing followed by a number of men of prominence in the shipping world. These include Captain Robert Dollar, of San Francisco, president of the Robert Dollar Company; A. F. Haines of Seattle, Wash., vice-president and general manager of the Admiral Oriental Line; J. P. Williams, of San Francisco, secretary of the Pacific American Steamship Association; Ralph Chandler, of Los Angeles, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company; H. F. Alexander, of Seattle, Wash., president of the Pacific Steamship Company; W. D. B. Dodson, of Portland, Ore., secretary and general manager of the Chamber of Commerce; C. W. Wheeler, of San Francisco, vice-president of the Chas. R. McCormick Steamship Company; Chas. Brown, of San Francisco, manager of Swayne and Hoyt; Harry Scott, of San Francisco, president of the General Steamship Company; R. D. Pinneo, of Astoria, Ore., general traffic manager Port of Astoria; H. C. Cantelow, of San Francisco, vice-president of the Luckenbach Steamship Company; H. C. Evans, of San Francisco, of E. C. Evans and Sons; S. S. Sandberg, of Los Angeles, traffic manager of the Harbor Commission; T. A. Graham, of San Francisco, vice-president of the Pacific Mail Steamsip Company.

Shipping Board May Combine Services

The United States Shipping Board, at a recent meeting in Washington, considered further the matter of the consolidation of the services from South Atlantic ports to United Kingdom and Continental European ports, and directed that, in assigning the operation of the American Palmetto Line to the Carolina Company, the Carolina Company be instructed that it is the wish and intention of the Shipping Board that the Carolina Company and its officials shall make every possible endeavor to complete such an organisation as will equally represent the commercial interests of all of the South Atlantic ports, and will do everything in its power, by seeking financial interests from those ports and placing directors on its board of directors from those ports, as will completely harmonise and protect the local and commercial interests of the whole South Atlantic district.

Hankow Trade

The weekly report of the British Chamber of Commerce dated Nov 12 states.

Finance and Money Market.—Bar Silver 34½ ready and forward on 5th instant dropped steadily all the week and closed 33.13-16ths ready 33.15-16ths forward on 12th instant. New York-London cross rate 453⅞ on 5th rose rapidly all the week and closed 461½ on 12th. T. T. 3-5¼ on 5th dropped to 3-5 on 7th and continued to drop until the close at 3-4⅝ on 12th. 4 m-credits which were placed at 3-6⅜ early in the week were done towards the close at 3-5⅝. Chinese Market Rates Shanghai Tls. 96.8. Local Currency $70.1. Native Interest 13%.

Imports.—Piece Goods & Yarn:—The unsettled political conditions continue and our market is lifeless.

Exports.—Business showed a big improvement last week and the local market at the close was very active with values of most produce firm with upward tendency. Wood Oil is again in demand from America and fair purchases are reported at advancing prices. European buyers are hesitating to operate at present values. Stocks locally are very low. Cow Hides are in strong demand from Europe and recent purchases have resulted in an advance of 10% in value. Tallow, Gallnuts and Chinagrass continue to be enquired for. A considerable business in Cotton is advised causing some excitement in the local market. Sesamum Seed position unchanged.

Black Tea.—The early part of the week showed no change over the position advised in Circular No. 45, but towards the latter part there has been a distinctly easier feeling on the part of the Teamen, and fairly large quantities have changed hands at the reduction.

Stock are still considerable, and owing to the poor quality we look for further reductions in order to enable the exporter to place the tea in the purchasing market.

New P. & O. Steamesr On Australian Run

Folders have been received in Shanghai describing the new P. and. O. oil-burning steamers "Mooltan" and "Malloja" built and engined in Belfast last year. These magnificent vessels have been assigned to the London Australia route. They are of 21,000 gross tons, the largest yet designed to pass through the Suez Canal. They each carry 656 saloon passengers.

How Are The Powers Going To Line Up?

WHEN the Four-Power Treaty was signed at the Washington Conference by the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, it was thought at the time that there had been created a nucleus of the four principal powers having interests in the Pacific that might provide a working unit for smoothing out troubles not only in the Pacific, but also in respect to China. These four powers not only have a commercial interest in China, but also through the International Banking Consortium control most of the financial interests from the standpoint of foreign investments in China.

Immediately after the announcement that the Four-Power Treaty had been formed, Great Britain and Japan announced the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance which had been a sore point not only between China and Japan, but also between the United States and Great Britain, for the reason that it tended to infringe upon the Open Door Policy originally announced by the United States but later agreed to by practically all of the Powers.

But while abrogating the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the Four Power treaty did not abrogate an alliance which generally was thought to exist between Japan and France in respect to China and Pacific Questions. Whether such an alliance exists is not known, for nothing has ever been announced officially by either nation regarding the existence of such a compact. But whether by pre-arrangement or otherwise there have been indications that Japan and France have tended to work together on matters affecting China, the most recent being the reported attempt of the Powers to get together on some kind of a common policy in respect to China's treaty violations. The lead in this move, according to report, was taken by France, her chief interest being to secure her previous position in respect to the Chinese Eastern Railway and the Gold Franc Question. Obviously before France would agree to any kind of concerted action, she would insist that the other Powers, America, Britain and Japan, would come in with her on this point. The same dispatch from Paris referring to this question also quoted Le Journal as stating that "Great Britain and the United States will consider it of first importance to obtain Japan's agreement to liberty of action in any eventual negotiations between the Powers and China."

Without knowing anything outside of the newspaper announcements as to what the Powers are trying to do in respect to the present China situation, it would seem to an outsider that the Powers are as far away from any kind of common action now as they have been since the close of the Washington Conference nearly three years ago. And to add to the further complications, two other Powers have now appeared on the scene which did not figure at all in the Washington deliberations, Soviet Russia and Germany. The Powers at Washington ignored these two nations when they "settled" the affairs of Asia, but neither is to be ignored today. Soviet influence is very potent in China today and although little is heard regarding German political activities in China, much is being heard regarding German trade activities which are becoming very important.

If China's political and military leaders had sufficient intelligence to get together and unify the land, the international farce of the Powers trying to get together on some kind of common action in respect to China would be ended, but as China deteriorates through internal dissension the old-time schemings and intrigues begin to crop up until it begins to look as though the old days when European nations fought their battles by proxy in this part of the world were returning to the stage. From the American standpoint there have been two encouraging reports carried in the news recently. One was that some consideration was being given to a plan for funding China's defaulted debts along the well-known "Dawes plan" which seems to be working so well in Europe and the other was that Mr. John V. A. MacMurray, former chief of the Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs of the State Department, has been made Assistant Secretary of State under Mr. Hughes. In view of the fact that Mr. MacMurray is the most familiar with China of anyone in the Government at Washington, there is hope now that something constructive may be decided upon by the United States.

The Egyptian Assassinations

IT is not supposed that the unfortunate result which has attended what was first thought to amount merely to an attempt on the life of the Sirdar, Major General Sir Lee Stack, will have any material effect upon the British policy in Egypt and the Sudan, for the British government is seldom terrorised by the acts of the few, even though those acts involve the taking of the lives of some of the best of the country's servants. Some people have said that it is by "chest measurement" that the British succeed in the colonisation schemes upon which they embark, though others with a happier faculty of expression speak of it as the "certainty of the continuity of government." One of the things which has led to the defeat of terrorism in British history, is the knowledge, that when an official is removed by the act of malefactors, there is another to fill his place, and that even when the second incumbent has been removed, still a third is ready to carry on the traditions of the government and the race. For that reason, whatever political motives may underlay the act which has led to the death of a gallant soldier the world may be certain that no change of policy is likely to be effected by any such means. At this juncture it would be idle to attempt to review the recent developments of Egyptian history and its relations to the demands of the Sudanese for a degree of independence, which, at any rate for the time being, has been denied them.

For though the excursion of Zaghlul Pasha to England was not so successful as he had hoped, it is believed that neither he nor those immediately connected with him had anything to do with the assassination, or hoped that any particular furtherance of their cause would be achieved by an act which everyone in the civilised world must deeply deplore.

For this reason we are inclined to believe that this unfortunate occurrence is not the result of the plotting of the leaders of the present movement for the adherence of the Sudan to Egypt, but rather that of the hot-headed section which seems to be present in any political faction, no matter in what country it may be found. Possibly, even this may not be the case, for history has shown on many occasions, beyond the possibility of the slightest doubt, that assassinations are the result rather of the ill-directed activities of the few than the carefully devised plans of the many. For this reason we are not disposed, off hand, to accept the opinion of the British newspapers that either Zaghlul Pasha or his immediate following are in any way responsible for what has occurred. Rather are we disposed to believe that he and his colleagues, knowing the utter uselessness of such deeds, not only deplore what has happened, but would have been the first to have done their best to have prevented it, had they been forewarned of its likelihood. It is true that their anti-British attitude may have encouraged some to believe that they would not have been averse from some such event, but that is a long way from saying that they would have countenanced any such plan had they been informed of it before its occurrence, and for that reason we are disposed to believe that the Egyptian Premier is entirely genuine when he expresses such emphatic horror of the whole business as he is reported to have done.

The chief regret which many must feel is that this murder may have the effect of postponing the fulfilment of the desires of Egyptian nationalists as well of those of the Sudan. For the acts of any government eventually have to conform to public opinion. In this particular case, it is British public opinion which must have the last say, and at all times it has been the case that common sordid assassination has done little else but arouse a feeling of antagonism which has taken many years to overcome. Whatever motives may be alleged to have actuated those who brought about the death of Sir Lee Stack, the fact remains that the murderers are as guilty of a crime as he who murders for ordinary gain, or from motives of vindictiveness. It is not a crime, which has about it any redeeming features; it could not be useful for it was predestined to fail in the achievement of the end for which the murders may have been in search, and being futile it has done nothing save cut off in the period of his usefulness a man who may have done much for the country to which he was appointed, and for the nations of which he was a worthy representative. And that being so, it is impossible to feel anything but the profoundest disgust of the deed and those responsible, allied with which is the elevating thought that even in these days there are men to be found in every country willing to accept prominent positions of responsibility in which their reward may be small and their martyrdom great.

Relatives Who Know too Much

A woman was unintentionally rebuked by another for not making more of her relatives and she replied:

"The reason I avoid my relatives is because they have such a way of remembering always so many things I would like to have forgotten.

"For example, my exact age, my aptitude for certain subjects and my inaptitude for certain other things as evidenced by my standings when in school, their cock-sure statements as to my ability or my deficiency along other lines, opinions mostly deducted from what they know of certain other members of the family."

She continued: "Nothing riles me so much, nor puts me so much on my mettle as to find that I have been pigeon-holed by these positive speaking relatives as able or unable, as the case may be, to accomplish what I undertake.

Is it any wonder that some persons try to shake themselves loose from the relatives who think they know so well what "Tim" or "Susie" can do?

After all, a man or a woman makes him or herself according to the individual conception, not according to what any "So-and-So" thinks. Great damage can be done to the prospects of another by well-meaning relatives who cannot resist an enlightening impulse to express just what they think they know.

Don't you be the busy tongue which retards than helps a relative.

Other Views Than Ours On The War In China

THE CIVIL WAR IN CHINA

(Dr. Yehyi Hsieh, in N. Y. Times)

You reported in yesterday's paper that 5,000 Japanese, including members of the House of Peers and Representatives, adopted resolutions urging the Japanese Government to interfere in Chinese national affairs, "as an ally of General Chang Tso-lin."

If Japan does interfere, the result will be a cataclysmic echo of the World War. Two years ago at the meeting of the Military Order of the World War, held at the Cadet Armory, Boston, I predicted that if Japan did not leave China alone and clean her own house, Russians, Chinese and Koreans would all rise against Japan. How true and how much more threateningly looms the cloud which is gathering today!

In this morning's paper there is news of the Peking Government sending Wen Chieh-tsen as Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, despite the fact that the Shanghai office is controlled by the Chekiang Provincial Governor, Hsiu Yun. It is also reported that the Military Commissioner, Ho Feng-lin, will address the consular body, and assumes the audacity of a usurper to challenge the international powers to dare recognise the appointments of civil officials made by the Peking Government.

Is it not time that those who are interested in Chinese affairs be asked to try and understand that when "the defense of Shanghai" is spoken of it does not necessarily imply that the march against the great port is an act of unprovoked and unjustifiable aggression? Shanghai is a part of the Province of Kiangsu. Is the Governor of that Province in the wrong when he asserts his claim to control the city if it is not part of Chekiang? What right has the Governor of that Province to be in possession of it?

As this fight opens, we may naturally think first of the safety of Americans and other foreign residents, but we must not close our minds to the question of legal control of the city and its revenues. Maybe the President, Tsao Kun, is not altogether an admirable person, but he has attracted to his aid some good advisers, both civil and military, and we shall see the situation more clearly if we understand that the action they approve is not against Shanghai, but against the Chekiang Governor, who rules the Kiangsu capital city.

The report of the League of Nations today shows how, because of Japan's protest on the immigration question, India and Italy sided with Japan, while China stood aloof. This was done because of the monumental debt of gratitude which the Republic of China owes to America, and can only pay in a small measure by showing her friendship wherever possible.

At no time other than the present have the Chinese been in greater need of counsel and advice from true friends in America. China is realising that it is not so much Japan's strength or the Manchu Chekiang alliance that is her peril, but China's own supineness.

The whole world has been aroused to China's precarious position. Japan herself appreciates it. Unless we are supported in repelling the aggression thus directed against us, no one can say how soon the people of China may rise electrified and run amuck under such pressure. By this I mean the time will come, unless the Peking-Kiangsu troops succeed in cleaning up the aggressors in a sweeping manner once and for all, when the whole of an aroused China will strike. It would be easy for Japan then to make China her prey.

THE TWO-FOLD ORIGIN OF TROUBLE IN CHINA

EDITOR, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir: The existing situation in China is becoming so complicated and so chaotic that even the keenest and wisest politician cannot tell what result may be reached. Not only in political circles, but also in the military spheres, envy, intrigue, and treachery are prevailing everywhere. The conservatives maintain that peace cannot be secured unless the old regime, or despotic government is resorted to; while the Radicals propose that peace may be readily realised immediately after the abolition of the Tuchun system and the disarmment of the superfluous armies. But both are equally non-practical and far away from the real facts. In solving any problem, one should first trace the origins of the trouble and then determine what step should be taken in order to remedy the same.

Is the character or quality of the Chinese people naturally too bad and too degenerate to be remedied? or is the wisdom and ability of the Chinese populace inferior to those of Western peoples? No, most emphatically no! The origins of trouble in China may be attributable to two main things: the mutual struggle for personal ascendency among the warlords and the indifference of the populace towards common affairs.

Internal wars are generally fought, not for any definite doctrine, or definite ideal, but for the warlords to gain more power and extend their sphere of influence. On thinking that they will be unable to get ahead without the overthrow of their rivals, they take it as a stepping stone to destroy others. Following Marshal Wu's aggressive policy, incessant warfare would be inevitable, as the rivals, once subjugated and made to bow to one army, would arise again in a revolt when the time is mature.

In Memory Of Jack London

Eight years ago today, there passed away in Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, California, the well-known author and socialist—Jack London. Who has not heard of this virile, red-blooded writer, or read his works? He was one of the leading American novelists of his period. His adventure-stories, dog-stories, sea-stories and others, has still that magic-power of fascinating its readers, holding their attention and interest.

Jack London was a realist—practically all his stories were true pictures of life, most of them being his own personal experiences, and, it is these true-to-life stories that will stand the test of Time. "The virtues and frailties of men are forgotten in the lapse of time; only their works remain."

Hereunder appears a poem written of Jack London sometime after his demise:

THE LAST TRAIL

(To Jack London)

Nay, it shall never be
That sombre requiems are tolled for thee!
But there shall be wild music from the shore
Of flowering Wai-ki-ki; and when the door
Of Morn opes wide upon blue 'Frisco Bay,
Then let a rollicking fo'c'sle song
Be lilted loud and long
To cheer thee, comrade, on thy shadowy way.

See! where, above the pines, snow clouds are drifting—
And Nome's white lights grow weary with the dawn.
Hark though the sledge-dog drivers calling, calling,
While winter's chains are falling.
'Tis thee they mark, old comrade, thee they hail
With "Musha! Musha!" down the Sitka trail.
But hush!—the wind from off the Yukon's shifting,
And thou must hasten on!

Though wert indeed adventurous with life—
Yea, life was but adventure keen for thee,
Ev'n as Ulysses on the moonless sea.
Like Jason, too, though sawest much of strife,
Yet camest home at last
From all thy journeys vast,
To domesticity.

O King of proud adventure, fare thee well!
Master of silver words with tales to tell,
May thou by day have hunter's winey zest,
And by thy nightly campfire, happy rest,
Whether through sun or rain or snow-lashed gale,
On this which is for thee the last—
The Unknown Trail.

So, the old saying holds true: "Those who are forced to obey, are not mentally won." Now, for the sake of a clear understanding, let us try a metaphor. It would be generally acknowledged that unification based upon brutal force may be likened to a kind of mechanical mixture in chemistry, where the molecules are forcibly squeezed together without any presence of chemical affinity, that is to say, the physical separation will present itself, provided the external force happens to be released; while, on the contrary, unification or peace built upon the concord of popular wills may be likened to a chemical compound where the prevalence of chemical affinity can hold in combination all the molecules therein and make impossible decomposition except by chemical action. If Marshal Wu realises the above-mentioned fact, I am sure he would immediately abandon his aggressive policy.

To the indifference of the populace towards common affairs we have attributed the second origin of the trouble in China. The Chinese people, having hitherto been trained up in the traditional doctrine that "Look after yourselves without disturbing others," are instinctively unwilling to take any part in other's affair, even the relatives, to say nothing of the public. The "let-it-alone" policy or "non-interference" ideal has struck root very deeply in the mind of the Chinese people. Because of the timidity or indifference of the populace, the state affairs, both financial and political, are usually entrusted to a few base and treacheous politicians. It is true that when you refuse to do something others may do it instead.

In Western countries, election or nomination is considered as the most significant thing, but in China only a trifle. Foreigners are accustomed, when elections are coming, to busy themselves in preparing political demonstrations and delivering public harangues thereby making the people recognise and appreciate the dignity and ability of the candidates. But while the Chinese people consider, on the contrary, the electoral affairs as insignificant and look down upon them and even go so far as to forsake their privilege of voting, thus, the competitors for candidacy, taking advantage of the cool attitude of the populace, will endeavor to bribe the voters and make them vote against their conscience. After being successful, they assume their posts as representatives; they begin to strive to get back their pecuniary investment formerly expended in bribing the voters and even secure any interest thereon in addition, thus taking the electoral affair as a profit-making enterprise or a speculation. So the Chinese parliament is built upon the bribery of candidates, rather than the wishes of the citizens.

Prosperity and happiness can hardly be expected unless the above-mentioned two defects can be cured. The healing of the first defect we have entrusted to Marshal Feng who has awakened the aggressive dream of Marshal Wu and made possible the opening up of a peace conference at Tientsin. As regards to the second defect, it depends for the modern educationists to work for the adoption of a system of popular education, thereby to enlighten the people and call forth their political conscience and awake them to their political responsibility.

DRESS

Fichus and Stocks of France in the Directoire Period Are Smart Accessories of Some of the New Frocks

One is strongly tempted to believe that some great dandy of the Directoire period had a scar on his neck that he wished to conceal, or perhaps a chin that was not as well defined as he wished. How else came about the custom among men of that period of wearing their neck stocks so high to come right up over the tip of the chin? It may have been simply an exaggerated outcome of the desire to wear collars ever higher and higher. At all events it was a fashion that women adopted as well as men. These high collars in women's dress seem to have been the outcome of fichus which were worn in England and France at the time that the French Revolution broke out—that fichu as we know it in the canvasses of Reynolds and Gainsborough. After the Revolution the fichu was drawn up higher and higher, until it became the trompeuse (the deceiver), which eventually had to be supported by "gorges postiches"—false throats—of satin.

Now you know there is a strong leaning towards those fashions that prevailed in France after the Revolution—best known as the Directoire. Just what shall be taken and what shall be discarded is a question upon which the great designers do not agree. To some of them the Directoire mode means first and foremost the scant, high-waisted frock for women. To others the high waist is glossed over and the striking decorative details of masculine costume of the period are seized upon—wide revers, double-treasted coats, jabots, shirt and wrist frills.

Martial et Armand finds much in the masculine mode of the Directoire to apply to the present day feminine mode, and in the frock from this house here sketched is reproduced the high trompeuse as worn by the men of the period as well as the women. The frock is in redingote style, of black panne velvet, embroidered in yellow and red. A fob, so characteristic of this period, is hung from a slit pocket at the right hip.

Directoire collar with jabot shown on Martial et Armand redingote.

FASHION NOVELTIES

Gilded chicken feet are among the odd things used by the milliners to trim autumn hats. They are the genuine article, too. A black felt shape has a small ribbon bow on one side and through the bow are stuck two feet, claws in one direction and bony legs in the other. At least it makes for conservation.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

BY MARY MARSHALL

NEXT ON THE PROGRAM—CURLS

The whole question of bobbed or shingled hair is such a hackneyed one that one introduces it with apologies and misgivings. If there's nothing else to talk about but the pros and cons of shorn locks then it's best not to talk at all, seems to be the opinion of many folk nowadays. Still, there's just one last word on the subject. And the word's CURLS!

Can it be that we are actually on the eve of an era of curled hair? Fashion proceeds by action and reaction, and surely a curly head would be reaction aplenty against the mannish shingled head. Already there are young girls who are wearing their hair in a coquettish medley of curls and ringlets. And now the remark is passed about that a revival of Directoire fashions would naturally usher in an era of curls. Moreover, the curled pate is an easier arrangement for the recently bobbed than the headdress requiring a profusion of long hair.

Juliet caps have appeared here and there to be worn with the curled head. These consist of pearl or crystal beads strung on wire to form criss-crossing meshes in the from of a little bonnet extending over the ears and down to the nape of the neck. The hair shows through between the beads, and the curls peep out around the edges of the bonnet.

American Army Planes Bomb Away Clouds And Make Rainfall To Order

Washington, Oct. 29 (By The Associated Press).—Using an electrified sand process devised by Dr. L. Francis Warren, of Harvard, two army aviators today successfully "shot down" a series of clouds which overshadowed Bolling Field. Smaller groups disappeared entirely under the attack, while heavier masses were criss-crossed with artificial chasms through which the sun's rays pierced brightly to the earth.

Army airplanes have been detailed exclusively to that work, and daily flights are to be made during the next six weeks to determine both the peace and war value in connection with aviation.

Two planes, piloted by Captain A. L. Eagle and Lieutenant W. E. Melville, were plainly apparent to the spectators at the field. The planes were forced to climb 30,000 feet before they reached the main stratum of cumulus clouds which was their objective. Through special binoculars they were seen to disappear behind a fragment and then suddenly to "break through" again as the cloud disintegrated under the shower of electrified sand thrown by centrifugal force through nozzles set in the under portion of the fuselages.

CUT CIRCLES IN CLOUD

The aviators described a circle above the cloud bank and the circle was duplicated in a clean-cut pathway through the mist. From the ground it appeared that the cloud perceptibly lessened as the planes proceeded.

Both aviators declared the experiment a success.

"Undoubtedly it would serve to clear the field of a dense fog bank," Captain Eagle said. "If we were advised that a squadron was approaching the field, for instance, and could not locate the landing because of the low clouds or fog we could send up two or three ships and clear a path for them. I suppose the same effect could be had over fog-wrapped harbors."

Captain Eagle said he had "dug an immense well" into one cloud bank, which, however, was so thick that he had been unable to drive the aperture to the under side.

"I circled in the cloud," he said, "and the sand cut a perfect well. On every side rose the white walls and far above was the blue sky."

METHOD DESCRIBED

"We fill the sand tanks on the planes with 120-mesh silica sand," Dr. Warren said, "the planes being equipped for charging the sand either positively or negatively by the turn of a lever, the sand impinging upon charging plates or falling through charging nozzles and being scattered by the air driven back by the plane propellor. When a cloud is found to have a positive charge we scatter negatively charged particles at the extreme top; when it is found to have a negative charge we scatter positively charged particles at the top, and when it is found without any charge we first charge it as we like and then bring it down by again scattering the opposite charged particles, etc.

"These tests have resulted in some cases in uncanny manifestations. For example, on July 8, at about 2 o'clock of the afternoon, a frightfully heavy lightning lay to the south of Philips Field over Chesapeake Bay. At 2:30 we attacked a small corner of this storm with a quantity of negatively charged sand—less than ten pounds—and coincident with its application there was no more lightning and no more thunder. There followed a slow, gentle rain of about four hours' duration."

minds what kind of money he gets in his pay envelope. Women, for instance, who insist upon new bills when they cash a check (their own money) will accept dilapidated bills in their pay envelope. As an uptown stenographer said when asked how she would like to get eighteen "cart wheels" on Saturday night. "It is all to the good when you get your pay."

MANIA FOR NEW BILLS

The reason for printing press extravagance seems to be the mania for new bills. A few years ago, before the Federal Reserve system went into effect, it was difficult to get new bills at any of the banks. A few were given out as a great favor. The new bills all came from Washington. Some of the New York banks based much of their popularity upon the supply of crisp notes that they sent messengers to the nation's capital to get. One Fifth Avenue bank boasted that it never gave old bills to a woman depositor. It cost a lot of money in railroad fares, but it paid.

Now, however, when all currency is distributed by the Reserve Banks, it is much easier to get new bills. The Reserve Banks allot automatically to their member banks their quotes of new bills daily. The amount is distributed in proportion to the several banks' deposits and needs. For instance, a small national bank up-State will get the same proportion of new bills to its capital as a New York trust company with deposits twenty times as large. The New York bank can usually pay its counter checks in new bills and pack the old ones into payroll envelopes for its large corporate depositors.

Even in the matter of payrolls there is competition in new money. The story is told by the paying teller in one of New York's biggest trust companies of the client who came to his window and said:

"Unless you can give me new bills in my payrolls I will have to close my account. The trust company around the corner says it will give me all the new bills I want, so I will put my account there." The paying teller explained that much as he hated to lose the account he could not in justice to his other depositors do anything so unfair. The client went away and the paying teller called up the rival trust company and told him the story.

"That's funny," said the rival company's teller. "Mr. Jones was in here this morning and said that you had promised to give him all the new bills he wanted for his payroll envelopes and unless we could do the same he would close his account. I told him just what you did. Now, I wonder where he will put his account."

TELLERS TO EXPLAIN TO CLIENTS

New bills are wanted chiefly by women. Men do not care whether they have new bills or not. In fact, they seem to prefer old bills as being less apt to stick together. Women take pride in displaying new bills. They do not fold their money, nor carry it in wads, but lay it out flat in their long purses. But women, bank officials say, can be counted upon to fall in with any reasonable request about silver dollars, provided they know why the request is being made. Cashiers and paying tellers are instructed to explain to them the philosophy of the new order.

Before the World War the United States had almost a hundred million silver dollars in circulation. When England suddenly ran short of silver in India and could not coin her Indian rupees the United States melted up her silver dollars and lent them to England, thus restoring the Indian currency and the convertibility of its note issue. The Indians were burying silver so as to sell it at an advance later.

The silver dollars melted during the war are now gradually being restored to the Treasury. There are new ones of a beautiful design just ready for distribution. A pretty gift and a valuable looking tip. But the process has been an expensive one, and it is to defray the cost of minting these dollars that the public is asked to use them and give the paper dollars a chance to accumulate. All bills up to the ten-dollar denomination are printed in Washington. The higher denominations are printed by the Reserve Banks and represent receipts for silver or gold on deposit with them. The total circulation today is 1,744,000,000 paper dollars and 500,000 gold coin. New one-dollar bills are turned out monthly.

The Federal Reserve Banks get "ones" from Washington by express and send them out from the reserve centers to the member banks. The bills find their way back crumpled. Again they are sent out to the large banks for their payroll envelopes. Once more they stray back to the Federal Reserve Banks and are sent to east side banks or to up-State banks and kept in circulation until they are worn out, when they are destroyed and replaced by new bills. The bills on the lower east side that are carried around in pockets for years and never put into a bank come back through various channels in a mutilated condition.

Dirty money in America is almost unknown. In Europe right after the war they had to put up with tattered money and even with postage stamps, but they soon discovered, as America did after the Civil War, that paper in small denominations never lasts. Even metal coins of small face value wear out rapidly. The fifty-cent piece, for instance, is said to rub off 2 per cent. of its surface in a single fair.

If paper bills can be allowed to accumulate and season they will last longer. New bills, like new soap, wear out rapidly. Building up an adequate reserve will take time and patriotic cooperation. It will, however, mean saving to the taxpayer and a saving to the Government of nearly $2,000,000 a year—an amount well worth a temporary overloading of the pockets with silver dollars.

First White Man In Fiji To Be Robbed

The first instance in the history of Fiji of a white man being waylaid, robbed, and murdered has just occurred. The victim was Mr. C. B. Sealy, an English surveyor, who was in charge of the construction of a new road through the island of Viti Levu. He was robbed of about £400 Government money, which he was carrying to pay workmen.
